A HISTORY OF GREEK PHILOSOPHY

BY

W. K. C. GUTHRIE

F.B.A.

Master of Downing College and Laurence Professor of Ancient Philosophy in the University of Cambridge

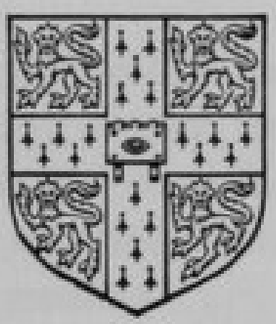
VOLUME II

THE PRESOCRATIC TRADITION FROM PARMENIDES TO DEMOCRITUS



CAMBRIDGE
AT THE UNIVERSITY PRESS
1969

CONTENTS

Preface page xiii

Note on the Sources xvii

List of Abbreviations xix

I THE ELEATICS 1

A. Parmenides 1

(1) Date and life 1

(2) Writings 3

(3) A central problem 4

(4) The prologue 6

(5) Two ways of inquiry: one true, the other impossible 13

(6) The true way and the false 20

(7) The only true way: the marks of 'what is' 26

(a) It is eternal, neither coming into being nor perishing 26

(b) It is continuous and indivisible 31

(c) It is motionless, and lies complete within peirata 34

(d) Recapitulation: coming-into-being, locomotion and alteration are names without content 39

(e) It is 'like a round ball' 43

(8) The false way of what seems to mortals 50

(9) Cosmogony and cosmology 57

(10) Theory of knowledge: the soul 67

(11) Being and seeming 71

Appendix: the opposites in Parmenides 77

B. Zeno 80

(1) Date and life 80

(2) Writings and method 81

(3) History of interpretation page 83
Bibliographical note 85
(4) General purpose 87
(5) Plurality 88
(6) Motion: the paradoxes 91
(7) Place 96
(8) Sensation: the millet seed 97
(9) Zeno and Parmenides 97
(10) Conclusion 100
Note on certain Chinese paradoxes 100
C. Melissus 101
(1) Introductory 101
(2) The nature of reality 102
(a) Reality has the characteristics stated by Parmenides and others consistent with them 103
(b) Reality is infinite 106
(c) Reality has no body 110
(d) Reality feels no pain 113
(3) Relation to other philosophers 115

II Ionians and Eleatics: The Rise and Fall of Monism 119

III Empedocles 122
A. Introduction 122
B. Date and life 128
C. Personality: healer and wonder-worker 132
D. Writings 134
E. Escape from Parmenides: the four roots 138
Additional notes: (1) the divine names of the elements, (2) the immutable elements and fr. 26.2 144
F. Structure of matter: the theory of mixture and its relation to atomism 147

G. Love and Strife page 152

H. Causation in Empedocles: chance, necessity and nature 159

I. The cosmic cycle 167
First stage: the Sphere of Love 168
Second stage: the advance of Strife 171
Third stage: Strife triumphant 174
Fourth stage: the advance of Love 178
Conclusion 180

Additional note: the interpretation of fr. 35 183

J. Cosmogony and cosmology 185
(1) Cosmogony 185
(2) Shape of the cosmos 190
(3) The sun and the two hemispheres 191
(4) The moon 197
(5) The earth 198
(6) The sea 199

K. The formation of living creatures 200

L. The structure of animate nature: physiology 211
(1) The ratio of the mixture 211
(2) Medicine and physiology: reproduction 216
(3) Respiration 220
(4) Sleep and death 226
(5) Madness 227

M. Cognition, thought, sensation 228
(1) All cognition is of like by like 228
(2) Pores and effluences (including excursus on magnetism) 231
(3) Vision 234
(4) Hearing 238
(5) Smell 240
(6) Taste and touch 241
(7) Pleasure and pain 242
(8) Conclusion 242

N. The Purifications page 244
(1) Introduction 244
(2) The opening of the poem 246
(3) The Golden Age of Love 248
(4) The sin of bloodshed: reincarnation 249
(5) The fallen spirits 251
(6) The way to salvation 256
(7) The gods 257
(8) The nature and destiny of the 'soul' 263

IV ANAXAGORAS 266
(1) Date and life 266
(2) Writings 269
(3) The problem of becoming 271
(4) Mind 272
(5) Theory of matter 279
(6) The initial state: cosmogony 294
(7) Cosmology and astronomy 304
(8) Earth and sea 310
(9) Meteorology 311
(10) One world or more? 313
(11) Origin and nature of living things 315
(12) Sensation 318
(13) Theory of knowledge 319
(14) Conclusion 320
Additional notes: (1) chronology of Anaxagoras's life, (2) Euripides and Anaxagoras, (3) the words ὁμοιομερής, ὁμοιομέρεια 322
Appendix: Selected passages on Anaxagoras's theory of matter 327

V ARCHELAUS 339

VI PHILOSOPHY IN THE SECOND HALF OF THE FIFTH CENTURY 345
Appendix: Some minor figures of the period (Hippon, Cratylus, Clidemus, Idaeus, Oenopides) 354

VII DIOGENES OF APOLLONIA page 362
(1) Life and writings 362
(2) The fundamental thesis: air as arché 364
(3) Air is intelligent and divine 368
(4) Physical theories: cosmogony and cosmology, meteorology, magnetism 370
(5) Life, thought, sensation 373
(6) Physiology 378
(7) Conclusion 379

VIII THE ATOMISTS OF THE FIFTH CENTURY 382

A. Leucippus 383

B. Democritus 386

C. The atomic theory 389
(1) Fundamentals 389
(2) General nature of atoms 392
(3) Motion and its cause 396
(4) Nature of the original motion: the question of weight 400
(5) Innumerable worlds: cosmogony 404
(6) The four elements 413
(7) Causality in atomism: necessity and chance 414
(8) The heavenly bodies; the earth; other natural phenomena 419
(9) Time 427
(10) Soul, life and death 430
Additional note: Democritus 'On the Next World' 436
(11) Sensation 438
Additional note: the number of the senses in Democritus 449
(12) Thought 451
(13) Theory of knowledge 454
(14) Biology, physiology, medicine 465
(15) Man and the cosmos: the origin of life 471

(16) Culture, language and the arts page 473
(17) Religion and superstition 478
(18) Logic and mathematics 483
(19) Ethical and political thought 489
(20) Conclusion 497
Appendix: Indivisibility and the atoms 503

Bibliography 508

Indexes 511

I Index of passages quoted or referred to 523

II General Index 537

III Index of Greek words 554

The device on the cover is from a coin of Clazomenae, the birthplace of Anaxagoras, of Roman Imperial date. It shows the philosopher holding a globe, recalling perhaps the saying attributed to him that the study of the heavens and the whole universe is what makes life worth while (see p. 269 n. 2).