

A Documentary History of Russian Thought

From the Enlightenment to Marxism

Translated and Edited by

W. J. Leatherbarrow and D. C. Offord

Ardis, Ann Arbor

CONTENTS

Preface	7
---------	---

PART I. GENTRY REVOLUTIONARIES AND CONSERVATIVES

Introduction	11
--------------	----

A. N. Radishchev

[On Autocracy]	17
----------------	----

A Discourse on What It Means to be a Son of the Fatherland	18
---	----

A Journey from Petersburg to Moscow (Extracts)	25
---	----

N. M. Karamzin, A Memoir on Ancient and Modern Russia (Extract)	32
---	----

N. M. Muravev, A Project for a Constitution (Extracts)	42
---	----

P. I. Pestel, Russian Law (Extracts)	51
---	----

PART II. EARLY RUSSIAN IDEALISM: FROM THE WISDOM- LOVERS TO THE SLAVOPHILES

Introduction	61
--------------	----

P. Ya. Chaadaev, Letters on the Philosophy of History	67
--	----

I. V. Kireevsky, A Reply to A. S. Khomyakov	79
--	----

A. S. Khomyakov

[On Catholicism]	89
------------------	----

[On the Church]	91
-----------------	----

To The Serbs, An Epistle From Moscow (Extract)	93
---	----

K. S. Aksakov, Memorandum to Alexander II on the Internal State of Russia	95
--	----

PART III. BELINSKY AND HERZEN

Introduction	111
--------------	-----

V. G. Belinsky

Menzel, Critic of Goethe (Extracts)	117
--	-----

Letters to V. P. Botkin 1840-1841 (Extracts)	124
--	-----

Letter to N. V. Gogol	130
------------------------------	-----

A. I. Herzen

Dilettantism in Science (Extracts)	136
The Russian People and Socialism (Extracts)	147
Robert Owen (Extract)	149

PART IV. LIBERAL WESTERNIZERS

Introduction

 163

T. N. Granovsky

[On Slavophilism]	168
[On the French Revolution]	169
[On Skepticism and Historical Scholarship]	170
[On Tamerlaine]	171
[On Alexander the Great]	173
[On Louis IX]	175
On the Contemporary State and Significance of Universal History (Extract)	177
[On Peter the Great]	178

V. P. Botkin

[From a Letter of 1847 to Annenkov]	179
Letters on Spain (Extract)	180

P. V. Annenkov, [Italy]

 183

A. V. Druzhinin

A. S. Pushkin and the Latest Edition of His Works (Extract)	184
The Criticism of the Gogolian Period of Russian Literature and Our Attitude Towards It (Extract)	187

PART V. POLEMICS OF THE 1850s AND 1860s

Introduction

 193

N. G. Chernyshevsky

The Aesthetic Relationship of Art to Reality (Extracts)	199
[On Liberalism]	203
A Critique of Philosophical Prejudices against Communal Landholding (Extracts)	207
The Anthropological Principle in Philosophy (Extracts)	213
What Is To Be Done? (Extract)	223

N. A. Dobrolyubov, What is Oblomovshchina? (Extracts) 228

F. M. Dostoevsky

Mr. —bov and the Question of Art (Extract) 235

Winter Notes on Summer Impressions (Extract) 237

D. I. Pisarev, Bazarov (Extracts) 240

PART VI. REVOLUTIONARY POPULISM

Introduction 247

V. V. Bervi-Flerovsky, The Condition of the Working Class in Russia
(Extracts) 253

N. K. Mikhailovsky, What is Progress? (Extracts) 259

P. L. Lavrov

Historical Letters (Extract) 261

Program of the Journal Forward! (Vpered!) (Extract) 269

Knowledge and Revolution (Extract) 270

M. A. Bakunin, Statism and Anarchy: Appendix A (Extracts) 278

P. N. Tkachev

[On Historical Leaps] 286

Program of the Journal The Tocsin (Nabat) (Extracts) 288

G. V. Plekhanov, Our Differences (Extract) 294

Notes 297

Selected Bibliography 313