

	Acknowledgments	vii
	Introduction: The Political, Philosophical, Theological, Sociological, and Literary Critical Ramifications of Anti-Semitism	1
	PART ONE: NARRATIVES
1	Positing Immutability in Religion: Kant	23
2	The Metaphysics of Eating: Jewish Dietary Laws and Hegel's Social Theory	42
3	Transforming the Body into the Body Politic: Wagner and the Trajectory of German Idealism	63
	PART TWO: COUNTERNARRATIVES
4	Moses Mendelssohn's Other Enlightenment and German Jewish Counterhistories in the Work of Heinrich Heine and Abraham Geiger	79
5	Political Anti-Semitism and Its German Jewish Responses at the End of the Nineteenth Century: Heinrich Graetz and Otto Weininger	98
6	Between Mendelssohn and Kant: Hermann Cohen's Dual Account of Reason	108

7	Franz Rosenzweig, or The Body's Independence from the Body Politic	117
8	The Politics of Blood: Rosenzweig and Hegel	125
9	Freud's Other Enlightenment: Turning the Tables on Kant	136
10	Walter Benjamin's Transcendental Messianism, or The Immanent Transformation of the Profane	155
	Conclusion: Elias Canetti, Franz Baermann Steiner, and Weimar's Aftermath	169
	Notes	179
	Index	221