

A HISTORY OF GREEK POLITICAL THOUGHT

by

T. A. SINCLAIR

Professor of Greek in the Queen's University of Belfast

R8A
99/80

ROUTLEDGE & KEGAN PAUL LTD

Broadway House, 68-74 Carter Lane

London, E.C.4

SINCLAIR
LIBRARY
1966

CONTENTS

Preface	page vii
Introductory: Preamble to the subject	page 1
I. Homer	page 10
II. Hesiod, Solon, Heraclitus. Discontent promotes the growth of political thought; the people and the individual	page 19
III. The new freedom. Equality or Order? Herodotus and Aeschylus	page 33
IV. Protagoras, the first great political thinker; man's responsibility. Other Pre-Socratics. Democritus. The background of Socrates	page 43
V. Antiphon and others. The right of the stronger and the future of the polis . Socrates, Euripides	page 69
VI. Thucydides and statesmen of his time	page 98
VII. The aftermath of war. Federal and monarchical ideas. Plato's early life, Crito , Gorgias , The Academy. Isocrates	page 115
VIII. Plato's Republic	page 143
IX. Xenophon. Plato's Politicus or Statesman . Plato and Syracuse	page 169
X. Plato's Laws	page 186
XI. Aristotle	page 209
XII. Alexander the Great and the effect of his conquests. Hellenistic monarchy and Hellenistic cities. Philosophical schools, old and new, and their relation to politeia	page 239

xiii. Greek political thought at Rome. Polybius, Panaetius, Posidonius, Cicero, Philodemus, Lucretius	page 269
xiv. Hellenistic Monarchy again. Jewish influences. Monarchical writings of obscure date and origin. Philo of Alexandria	page 287
General Index	page 303
Index of Greek Words	page 313