

Contents

| | |
|--|-----|
| Introduction | vii |
| Chapter 1 British Political Theory in the Twentieth Century Paul Kelly | 1 |
| Chapter 2 Nature of the End of the State and Consequent Limit of State Action Bernard Bosanquet | 37 |
| Chapter 3 The State and the Individual L. T. Hobhouse | 66 |
| Chapter 4 The Great Leviathan J. N. Figgis | 76 |
| Chapter 5 Nationality Ernest Barker | 89 |
| Chapter 6 The Pluralistic State Harold Laski | 98 |
| Chapter 7 A Guild in Being G. D. H. Cole | 108 |
| Chapter 8 Liberty and Equality R. H. Tawney | 117 |
| Chapter 9 The Political Economy of Freedom Michael Oakeshott | 127 |
| Chapter 10 The Pursuit of the Ideal Isaiah Berlin | 143 |
| Chapter 11 Are There Any Natural Rights? H. L. A Hart | 156 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| Chapter 12 The Public Interest Brian Barry | 168 |
| Chapter 13 What's Wrong with Prostitution? Carole Pateman | 180 |
| Chapter 14 Dealing with Difference: A Politics of Ideas or a Politics of Presence? Anne Phillips | 205 |
| Chapter 15 In Defence of Nationality David Miller | 221 |
| Chapter 16 From Statism to Pluralism Paul Hirst | 237 |
| Chapter 17 The Logic of Intercultural Evaluation Bhikhu Parekh | 247 |
| Notes on Contributors | 275 |
| Sources for Contributions | 280 |
| Index | 282 |